U.S. sending top-line F-22 jets to Europe

(CNN) The U.S. Air Force will soon dispatch its most advanced fighter jet, the F-22 Raptor, to Europe in a show of solidarity with allies that have concerns about Russian actions in Ukraine, Air Force leaders said Monday. "Russia's military activity in the Ukraine continues to be of great concern to us and to our European allies," Air Force Secretary Deborah James, the service's top civilian, said at a briefing. "This inaugural F-22 training deployment will train with our joint partners and our NATO allies across Europe as part of our continued effort to assure our allies and demonstrate our commitments to security and stability of Europe." James said security concerns prevented her from disclosing exactly when and where the aircraft would deploy, but Gen. Mark Welsh III, the Air Force chief of staff, gave some clues. "We'll get the F-22 into facilities that we would potentially use in a conflict in Europe, things like the bases where we do aviation attachments, to places where we do air-policing missions," Welsh said. The stealthy F-22s, which Welch called the service's "best air-to-air capability," became operational in 2005 but only saw their first combat in attacks on ISIS positions in Syria late last year. Besides attacking other aircraft, they can be configured to bomb ground targets. "The F-22 cannot be matched by any known or projected fighter aircraft," says the Air Force's fact sheet for the Raptor, each of which costs about $143 million. That would include what Russia currently puts in the air. James said sending the F-22s to Europe is only part of what the Pentagon is doing to reassure allies.

Steep Swings for Chinese Shares as Global Markets Turn Mixed

(NY Times) Volatility continued to dominate global markets on Wednesday, as whipsaw trading across Asia gave way to broad-based, though not steep, declines in European stocks. Futures contracts indicated that the American stock market could open initially higher on Wednesday, although after Tuesday's ups and downs ended with losses on Wall Street, it was anyone's guess what the coming day might bring. Traders on the New York Stock Exchange floor on Tuesday. The Standard & Poor's 500-stock index ended down 1.35 percent. Stocks Deepen Their Slide After Early Gains Evaporate AUG. 24, 2015. Tuesday's People's Daily did not mention the stock markets. China's Party-Run Media Is Silent on Market Mayhem AUG. 25, 2015. Awaiting the opening bell at the New York Stock Exchange. Signs, Long Unheeded, Now Point to Risks in U.S. Economy AUG. 25, 2015. The volatility in global markets continues to be driven by fears about China's weakening growth and the ability of its leadership to handle a slowdown in the world's second-largest economy, after the United States. But as the turmoil continues, questions include how much of the buying and selling of global stocks is based on companies' actual exposure to China, and how much is a result of other market dynamics. Shares in Shanghai on Wednesday swung between sharp gains and losses, before ending the day down 1.3 percent, and they showed no sign that China's cut in interest rates late Tuesday would lead to a broader rally. Officials in Beijing on Wednesday took new steps to bring the stock market to heel, saying that they were investigating executives from China's biggest brokerage and had arrested staff members from the country's stock regulatory agency. Around Asia, other markets were mixed on Wednesday. Stocks in Japan rebounded 3.2 percent, ending a six-day losing streak.

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

Coastal low clouds and fog will return tonight with partial afternoon clearing again tomorrow. Interior locations will remain clear for the next several days. Cooling temperatures will arrive late week along with the possibility of some light rain for the weekend.

Medford Weather:

Gusty south and southwest winds are expected in the Shasta Valley and areas of the east side again this afternoon, focused over Modoc County on the east side and near Weed in the Shasta Valley. Humidities and winds combined are not expected to reach Red Flag criteria.

Reno Weather:

High pressure will bring warm temperatures with typical late day winds through Thursday. Low pressure will move into the Pacific Northwest this weekend and bring cooler temperatures and periods of gusty winds.

San Francisco Weather:

Warmer temperatures are expected today and tomorrow as high pressure builds into California from the Desert Southwest. An upper level trough will bring in cooler temperatures as well as a slight chance of rain to northern California late Friday into Saturday.

WEATHER

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY:

Sacramento Weather:

Dry weather with daytime temperatures a little above normal are predicted through the end of the week. Cooler temperatures can be expected beginning over the weekend with a chance of showers over the northern portion of the state. A little below normal daytime highs will continue through most of next week.

Hanford Weather:

Mainly dry weather can be expected for the next several days. Temperatures will remain near to slightly above normal as the upper-level ridge lingers through much of the week. Cooler weather returns for the weekend with the arrival of a low pressure system.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

Some lingering monsoonal moisture will bring a slight chance of thunderstorms to the eastern mountains and deserts this afternoon. A large upper level ridge will bring a warming trend today and Thursday with well above normal temperatures continuing into Friday. An upper trough moving into the Pacific Northwest over the weekend will bring a cooling trend Saturday through early next week.

Extreme Southwestern California including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

Monsoonal moisture will bring a chance of thunderstorms to the mountains and deserts today with occasional heavy rain possible. Fewer clouds will result in warmer temperatures for most areas today. Drier air from the southwest will move through southeastern California Thursday and Friday and bring fair dry weather with hot conditions for the inland areas.

Southeast California Weather:

There will be enough moisture remaining today for another round of showers and thunderstorms affecting mainly eastern San Bernardino County. Thunderstorm chances will decrease Thursday with additional drying expected Friday through the weekend as an increasing southwest flow becomes established.

Evacuations/Shelters:

- Mandatory Evacuation Areas:
  - The Hume Lake Christian Conference was evacuated 08/18/15. Per the Cal OES Law Duty Officer (LDO) evacuation was accomplished in less than 2 ½ hours due in significant part to prior planning between Fresno Sheriff and the Camp Staff. The group of 750 to 1000 people were evacuated to a sister Church in Fresno for sheltering.
  - There are 250 mandatory evacuations in the National Park Campgrounds in the immediate area of Hume Lake Christian Camp.
  - There has been an evacuation of 32 private residences, believed to be all vacation homes in the Big Meadow and Heart Meadow Neighborhood.
  - Approximately 1,500 campers in several Kings Canyon National Park Campgrounds located along 10 Mile Rd have been placed under mandatory evacuation.
- EOC Activations: Fresno County EOC is activated at Level 2 from 0730-1800.
- The California Highway Patrol has also moved the road closure, which had been located at the intersection of Highway 180 and Hume Lake Road. The new road closure now sits further south on Highway 180 at Grant Grove Tree (approximately 2 miles north of the Hwy. 180 and Hwy. 198 interchange). The roadway will remain closed until authorities determine it is safe to reopen. The Sheriff's Office wants to make the public aware that no one will be allowed to enter the Hume Lake area; people will only be allowed to exit.
- Per CUEA, PG&E critical facilities and distribution assets are no longer in a high risk category for threats to power serving Central California. CAISO has reviewed PG&E facility locations that may be impacted by the fire and none of the locations would compromise the grid in any capacity. There would be no brownouts if these sites were impacted.
